County Budget Of $4,597,815 To Be Adopted July 27

Principal Cause Of Boost In Expenditures Laid To Salary Increases

The Palm Beach County Commission tentatively adopted the 1953-54 budget totaling $4,597,815, which is $100,000 greater than last year's. Due to the increased valuation, it was possible to cut .02 mills from the millage.

The budget will be taken up for final adoption on July 27th. The tax reduction this year, according to Chairman Lake, will be .02 mills which brings the total county levy to 11.63 mills. Last year the figure was 11.65 which also represented a .02 mill saving to the taxpayers.

"By applying strict economy policies to projected expenditures for the coming year, it was possible to meet rising costs and still affect a saving in the tax levy," Lytal said.

Rising costs have pushed the county's budget up more than $100,000 over last year's budget, with the board's operating expenses for the coming year set at $3,042,663. The rest of the county budget is made up of special road and bridge district financing which accounts for $1,555,152.

According to the budget figures, one of the principal boosts in next year's expenditures was noted in the fine and forfeiture fund where an increase of .16 mills was necessary to meet additional expenses paid from this fund. The fine and forfeiture covers the salary increase which the legislature approved in a bill sponsored by T. Harold Williams, county clerk. The new legislation raises Williams $10,000 a year, from $48,000 to $58,000. The county provides for a salary of $4,800 per year for E. G. Newell, judge of the criminal court, which was voted by the legislature.

Another boost in the budget this year is the ocean boulevard fund which was increased to $40,000 this year to finance the county's share of a proposed beach erosion project.

An increase was also included in the county's capital outlay fund to take care of a proposed court house remodeling program, construction of a county agricultural hall, and juvenile detention.

Two other large increases, neither of which will be paid from taxes — were for a special road and bridge fund where $4,451,250 was set aside for construction of bridge and $950,000 for the Royal Park Bridge. Finance for the bridge will be raised from bond issues.

This year's tax assessment was raised from $236,000 to $238,000. Owens said that the county is up to date on its taxes over last year.

LIONS ENDORSE COUNTY VETS SERVICE OFFICERS

The local Lions Club endorsed the Veterans Service Officers employed by the County and requested "necessary steps to insure their retention as part of the County budget for the coming year."

The Legion and other veterans organizations will be represented at the Commission meeting Monday to oppose the suggestion of a young lawyer that the service be discontinued.

The following is substance of the Lions resolution: Whereas, the Veterans Service Office made possible through the cooperation of the Palm Beach County Commission perform a most valuable and helpful assistance to our veterans, and

Whereas, this service by being located both in the eastern and western parts of the county is accessible to veterans of the county thereby eliminating travel and expense to many who cannot afford it, and Whereas, much suffering, long periods of waiting are eliminated by greatly expediting the required action,

Therefore be it resolved by the members of the Belle Glade Lions Club that the Palm Beach County Commission be commended for carrying on this program in behalf of our veterans.

Optimistic Feeling Is Induced By The Recent Beef Sales

Generally Lower Offerings Reported Throughout All Cattle Centers

In line with reports from other livestock markets throughout the state there is a feeling of optimism in the Glades as a result of the past two sales days. Chicago reported only 10,000 cattle on last Monday, as against 20 to 30,000 normally.

Six hundred sixty-three head at Monday's sale brought a total of $41,775, with 84% going to slaughter.

Commercial slaughter steers brought 15.25 to 17.25, while utility brought 12.90 to 15.25.

F. D. STEVENS DIES WHILE VISITING IN MICHIGAN, AGE 73

F. D. Stevens, cane agronomist, and one of the active figures in the development of sugarcane in the Glades died at his home in Michigan.

This chart shows what was happening on Florida's highways when the current safety program was started in the spring of 1950 and what has happened since that time. Note that deaths were rising sharply when the program began and that there was an abrupt leveling off after it had been in operation a few months and had begun to take effect. Since the beginning of 1951, Florida has substantially held its own in highway deaths in spite of a tremendous increase in traffic. It now seems possible to start the death line downward—fatalities for the first 40 days of this year totalled 100 as compared to 127 for the same period last year.

School is out and summer is in. Traffic accidents are in the five to 14 year group; and most of these are killed during vacation.

Parents and grown-ups will be busy with the children. They are out of school and are on vacation.

More Than Million Dollar Payroll Threatened Through Sugar Quota Imposition

THREE NEW MEMBERS ON EXPERIMENT STAFF

Several new members have been added to the staff at the Everglades Experiment Station recently due to further studies of soil deficiencies governing vegetable crops and nutritional problems of cattle in this area. Dalton S. Harrison, who received his M.S.A. degree in Agricultural Engineering June 8, at the University of Florida, has been on the staff for about a month and is assistant Agricultural Engineer.

Dr. Thomas Meade, who received his Ph.D. at University of Florida will act in the capacity of animal nutritionist, and Dr. Charles Ozaki, Japanese-American, who received his degree at Ohio State University at Columbus, Ohio, will be assistant soil chemist.

Okeelanta And Farmer Growers Face Most Serious Reduction If Quotas Are Followed

Okeelanta's Plantation and seven Glades contract-growers of sugar cane are involved in sugar production, which, in short, means that they are involved in Good Neighbor Policy, and international treaties and agreements of the United States.

The quota law, or sugar Act has not been enforced since the early days of the last war, but because of a production during the '52-'53 season of 806,534 tons as against a continental cane sugar quota of 500,000 tons, (plus some assignment from other territories which under-produced), the USDA Sugar Section has held hearings and set tentative quotas for all continental cane sugar producers for the year '53-'54.

Some formula for arriving at this quota by a five-year average of production of each grower, gives Okeelanta only a 7,000 ton average.

Okeelanta produced the year just completed 15,335 tons of raw sugar, and expects to produce 18,000 tons of sugar with the cane now in the ground.

Okeelanta's annual payroll in the Glades, including local purchases of supplies and materials is more than one million dollars. A large part of which is for direct labor and is spent mostly in the Glades.

Contract Growers' delivering to Okeelanta accounted for 50,300 tons of the total of 171,300 tons of cane ground by Okeelanta this past year. The cane

Outdoor Florida

By Herb Mosher
(Editor's note: This is one of a series of articles about places to fish and hunt in Florida.)
The Rusk community, located on the eastern shore of Tampa, is one of the few remaining "sportsman's frontiers" in Florida. While many other areas are becoming over-crowded from the standpoint of outdoor men, there is still plenty of room, lots of good fishing, month there is a fish camp with many cottages and boats where thousands of fishermen have taken many thousands of tons of fish through the years. This is one of the most favored fishing locations on the West Coast. Capt. R. W. Thomas built the cottage and established a kind of headquarters for salt water anglers here many years ago.

Boats putting out from Shell Point have a wide variety of fish to choose from with the fishermen hauling in redfish and sea trout in unbelievable numbers when the fish are biting which is most of the time. Out in the bay Spanish mackerel are for sale, using live saildines for bait, or spoons and feather lures for casting or trolling. Of course, with suitable boats the open Gulf with its famous kingfishing is not far off, through one of the many passes, or inlets. Tarpon and snook become plentiful in the Little Manatee-Tampa Bay area as summer approaches and these game favorites of many fishermen offer sport supreme during these summer months.

Boats of good size can navigate the Little Manatee for at least six miles from its mouth. All this is good fishing territory. As the river narrows, smaller boats with outboard motors can travel another four or five miles while anglers enjoy fishing for the black bass which are plentiful along the river in this remarkable river.
Upstream from the bridge on the Tampa-Bradenton highway, you'll note that the Little Manatee's banks become higher and higher, until the river at times is flowing in what amounts to a canyon or gorge for considerable Florida territory. It is here on these high banks, overlooking the picturesque stream, that lucky sportsmen one day will build their homes in a location and environment guaranteeing them Florida living at its best. The river here is so beautiful that sightseers boats come over from St. Petersburg almost every day during the winter season so that the passengers can enjoy the scenery.
Farther upstream, where only the smaller boats go, the river narrows and at times becomes a stream flowing through a tunnel—a tunnel made by overhanging trees! No more beautiful, natural scenery than this to be observed along the Little Manatee River will be found anywhere in Florida.
Anglers will be glad to learn that the black bass in this river possess a particularly good flavor, the result, it is believed of the brackish water into which the fresh water fish at times swim. The bass also possess a ferocious fighting ability and much tackle gets torn up when fishermen tie in with the big ones.
Of course, the biggest fish in the river are the tarpon during the summer months. It is commonly known among the old-timers that tarpon as big as they come, swim into this river during June, July and August. The Panhandle River in Mexico will have to look to its laurels, say the Little Manatee enthusiasts, because a huge tarpon, larger than the 247-pound (world record) silver king from the Mexican stream, undoubtedly

VETERANS INFORMATION AND SERVICE

By Melvin T. Dixon
State Service Officer
Hospitalization for non-service-connected disabilities, which who advise or assist veterans are deeply concerned about the criticism recently, pertaining to the hospitalization of veterans suffering from non-service-connected disabilities. There is widespread misunderstanding, or lack of information as to the entitlement of a veteran to hospital care.

To begin with, prior entitlement goes to a veteran of a war (including a Korean veteran) who was discharged from the armed forces for a disability incurred in line of duty, or one who is in receipt of compensation for a service-connected disability. In addition, hospital care is furnished to a veteran of any war, who is in need of hospitalization and medical care for a non-service-connected disability but who is unable to provide same at his own expense, if he is in a VA hospital is available. It is with respect to this latter group that most misunderstanding exists.

Many such veterans believe that they are entitled to hospital care for non-service-connected conditions as a matter of legal right because of their war-veteran status, and that the statutory oath, to the effect that they are unable to pay for hospital care, is not significant. The law under which the VA administrators such benefits reads: "... any veteran of any war who was discharged under other than dishonorable conditions, suffering from disability ... who is in need of hospitalization or domiciliary care and is unable to defray the necessary expenses thereof ... shall be furnished necessary hospitalization or domiciliary care in any VA facility, within the limitations existing in such facilities, irrespective of whether the disability, disease or defect is due to service. The statement under oath of the applicant on such form as may be prescribed by the Administrator of Veterans Affairs shall be accepted as sufficient evidence of inability to defray necessary expense.

FATHER PETRIE WILL GIVE TALK ON PRAYER

The members of St. John's Episcopal Church will meet Sunday at 6 p. m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brogier, Recreation Station. After the recitation of Evening Prayer the group will hear Father Petrie give a talk on prayer.

"Faith is designed to conquer difficulties. God can work just as well in the face of the most formidable obstacles as He can where nothing appears to be in the way. Hold on, and you will conquer." — B. T. Roberts.

HOLD ON

"Faith is designed to conquer difficulties. God can work just as well in the face of the most formidable obstacles as He can where nothing appears to be in the way. Hold on, and you will conquer." — B. T. Roberts.

AFTER NOON PRAYER

As I grow older, Lord, I pray that I will not impatient be. With sounds the children make play.

With words of youth which seem to me To be so calm and so true — That I'll not always swear I'm right; That I will not begrudge the young

The pleasures which I knew before; That I will smile and hold my tongue At antics which I might deplore. For tolerance, O Lord, I pray — And to recall I had my day. — Carl C. Helm.

THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON, JULY 13, 1953

LESSON TOPIC — "One World In Christ" SCRIPTURE — Ephesians 2:8-10, 13-22 Contributed by Rev. Robert Ford

INTRODUCTION: Today begins a series of four lessons based on Paul's letter to the Ephesians. This letter was written while Paul was a prisoner in Rome and sent to Ephesus for circulation to all the churches in Asia.

The theme of this letter is the Unity of Mankind in Jesus Christ, a message vitally needed in our day.

I. Salvation by Grace Through Faith: Ephesians 2:8-10. Here, as always, Paul sets forth the basis of our salvation by faith alone. As in Galatians (see Galatians 2:16), Paul grounds his doctrine of the unity of all men in Christ on the fact that all men are saved by grace through faith.

II. He is Our Peace: Ephesians 2:13-17. Having set forth the doctrine of salvation, Paul applies it to the problem of reconciliation. We are reconciled to God and to our fellow man through Christ who is our peace.

III. The One Spirit — 2:18-22. The death of Christ is the basis for unity; also One Spirit is given to all men. If we have one Lord, we have also one Spirit. The division of Christendom is an indication of the way Christians have failed to hear and obey the voice of the Holy Spirit.

IV. One Foundation — Ephesians 2:20-22. The Church is built on the foundation of the witness of the apostles and prophets to Jesus Christ; here also is our basis of unity. As the various branches of the Church go, back to one Lord, they will draw nearer to each other.

THIS WEEK'S SERMONETTE HOW FAR CAN YOU REACH?

By Father John Clarence Petrie Vicar, St. John's Episcopal Church Belle Glade, Florida.

Your personality is not limited to what you can see, touch, taste, hear, smell. Nor is it limited to the present. You reach out to Okla-homa; to an office in New York; to a home in the downcountry, Washington and Jefferson reaching out to the school, office, shop, summer camp where your child is. You husband at work have never far from you. You mind the wife at home, the boy in the service. What queer pictures we would make if there were radiating from what we call our bodies visible waves touching all our interests. Imagine a wave going back to a childhood home; or reaching into the other world where we have a parent, child, brother, mate.

The pictures of some would show no great outreach, perhaps little beyond the nearest bar, or beach, or beauty parlor. But think of the way the great personalities of the race have extended themselves. St. Paul longing with all his heart that Israel would find in Jesus of Nazareth what he himself had found; St. Francis, reaching out to the downcountry, Washington and Jefferson working for a free world in which all men would be recognized as children of God the Creator.

Education helps you reach back to the darkness of the remote past; to seek to enlarge more and more man's knowledge. Love enables you to transcend space; yes, and time itself as you pray to Him who lives in eternity; as you pray for your beloved who are in that other world.

Giving of your possessions is a way to extend your personality. That dollar a week you put in the missionary side of your offering envelope at church may feed a hungry child in Africa, help a poor congregation build a chapel in India, heal a sick man in an Arizona sanatorium. Out there you cannot go physically your personality reaches through some other human being whom your dollar helps support.

Next Sunday when you lay your offering in the plate say a little prayer that expresses your intention of giving something of your personality out somewhere into God's universe. Remember that in the first days of Christianity people brought the bread and wine that were to be consecrated on the altar. Now that we give money instead of the elements of the Communion we often forget the meaning of the offering. We rise and sing, "All things come of Thee, O Lord; and of thine own have we given Thee." But the words may lose their meaning through routine. It is you who are laid on the altar with your gift. You who go on the Christian enterprise through your offering.

It is one reason why almsgiving has been classified by the Church along with prayer for others and instructing the ignorant, as a spiritual work of mercy.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay
According to my good friend Ralph Blank, manager of the Palm Beach County Resources Development Board, Florida, and particularly Palm Beach County, is receiving a most mighty valuable nationwide publicity in connection with a retirement project known as "Neighborhood Village."

On June 11 in convention assembled the Upholsterers International Union, with a membership of 55,000, ratified a retirement plan for members which calls for the construction of some 500 residential units and a self-contained village on a tract located in Palm Beach County, between the Dixie Highway and Inter-coastal Waterway in the vicinity of famed Jupiter Light.

Action of the Union climaxes six months of intensive effort on the part of the Palm Beach Board, the Florida State Improvement Commission and the Florida State Advertising Commission to bring this significant development to Florida. It is believed that this is only a forerunner of other similar retirement projects of unions now watching the move with genuine interest.

Hal Leshon of Hal Leshon and Associates, New York public relations firm handling publicity for the Florida State Advertising Commission, reports that a half column story about the project recently appeared on the front page of the New York Times, and that Business Week Magazine and the Readers Digest have scheduled stories, while Dodge Reports has covered the story in detail and the labor press of the nation is giving it a good play.

The large tract of land on which the village will rise has already been purchased and plans are going ahead for early construction of homes and buildings. The Union's Social Security Department will construct and operate a convalescent nursing home for insured members and lease other facilities for operation by the Union.

It is significant that this enlightened trade union selected Florida as the site for its retirement village after thorough and careful consideration of numerous desirable locations and that the membership approved the choice at its convention.

Careful surveys of Union members' needs and preferences were made before the decision was reached. Mr. Blank pays high compliments to State Improvement Commission for its splendid help in providing data and information and the Advertising Commission for supplying authentic information concerning the advantages that Florida offers the homeseeker and investors.

No state has more to offer from the standpoint of retirement living. It is only recently that our state agencies have given full consideration to the opportunities that exist to attract such people to Florida.

"Neighborhood Village" will continue to receive nationwide publicity, and officials of other Unions and organizations will keep close watch on its progress with the view of developing similar projects in this state. It will serve as a sort of pilot plant from which will be built, other larger and more extensive developments.

The vision of a modest, comfortable home in Florida among congenial friends and neighbors, gives the Union members something to look forward to. It should make for better labor relations, and industrial leaders should heartily approve such plans and encourage employees to plan and work for such future security.

I compliment the Upholsterers International Union on its wise choice of a retirement development location and Palm Beach County on being chosen for such a worthy enterprise. Floridians should cooperate by welcoming these newcomers and extending all possible help and advice to these worthwhile new neighbors.

WASHINGTON
NEWS LETTER

From

WASHINGTON — Three weeks of hard work remain ahead of the Congress if it is to complete its job and adjourn by the first of August, the pool set by the Republican leadership. This goal can be met but many sessions beginning early in the day and lasting far into the night will be necessary. No good will come of meeting the deadline however, for painstaking care does not accompany determined application to duty.

INSECTS AND HUMANS: Our federal government spends 60 times as much for bug and insect research as we spend for research into the health of its citizens.

This is a well worn and odious comparison, but it should be on the consciences of our leaders. This realization undoubtedly was the underlying motive in the Senate when it refused the other day to go along with crippling cuts in appropriations for the nation's hospital program and research in cancer and other diseases.

If joined in fighting for this program which will enable Florida's health officials to carry out a realistic program, and will benefit millions of citizens in Florida and the nation. I quote from my remarks to the Senate:

"At the present time in Florida nine hospitals are under construction. I have been advised by the Director of the Improvement Commission (E. R. Roland) that unless the additional $15 million is made available for distribution in the various states that not only will we not have new hospital facilities, but the hospitals now being constructed will not be completed; their construction will have to be suspended. That will cause great waste to the Federal Government and also to the people of Florida. My state is growing rapidly. More people come to Florida every week and every month. If we have one specific need it is the need for additional hospital beds. So I am happy to associate myself with the Senator from Alabama, the Senators from South Carolina, and the other Senators who are in favor of the amendment."

News notes on the off: My article of the month to Harris Powers, Editor of Suntime, Florida's weekly news magazine, for the generous appraisal of my

WASHINGTON — W. M. Kiplinger marked 25 years of reporting world events and predicting trends for a highly respected column of subscribers a forecast that "the world will be better" in the next three decades.

In a special 25th anniversary issue of his Kiplinger Washington Letter, written for the first time by the author, he said, "I hope, I think, I can hold it back or speed it up."

The Ohio-born, former newspaper reporter, who originated the method of dispensing business, economic and governmental news condensed into a weekly, four-page, privately-circulated letter, reviewed events since 1928, and then, with a "look to the future," said: "Out of our experience as observers comes a conviction, which is that the world will be better. Improvement is the law of life."

"We cannot stop the improvement, but we can hold it back or speed it up. To speed it up requires more than noble wishes and pious good intentions. It takes hard work, knowledge, spirit, intelligence, judgment, savvy, wisdom. Both the worldly and the brain trust are both are highly essential—because winning and losing, as everyone knows, is not just a matter of luck."

Kiplinger was 32 and relatively unknown when he began writing his weekly analyses of Washington doings and events. He has since become a household name, a household word, a household name.

Today, built around that original typewriter which Kiplinger still uses, is a staff of 250, housed in a modern temporary office building and a printing plant, and each sharing in the earnings of the Kiplinger Washington Agency.

The Letter is delivered every Monday.

Day morning to business and professional men and women, teachers and students, housewives and political leaders in every state and 56 foreign countries.

In his review of the past 25 years Kiplinger says the present "is merely a piece of the past and the future" and continues: "Now look back and ponder on the material advances of the past. How the average man is better off... than 25 years ago or less. Wages and other forms of pay have more than tripled in 25 years. Living cost prices have less than doubled... so there's a margin."

"Change is ways of thinking. Growth of ideas shifts to socialism. The New Deal era. Big government. Nationalism. Laws to spread income. Wages of reliance on private and public effort (perhaps temporary). Accents of labor... union members in 1928 3.6 million... now 16 million. At this adds up, says Kiplinger, is a good ahead."

ed the Center for Safety Education and was a member of the Board of Directors of the National Safety Council.

"He has been a member of the Coordinating Committee of three Presidents' Conferences since their organization—the President's Highway Safety Conference—since 1946, the President's Conference on Fire Prevention since 1947, and the President's Industrial Safety Conference since 1948."

FVFA Convention Speaker

Named by President Pearce

Dixon Pearce, Miami, president of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association, has announced that Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, has accepted the association's invitation and will address the tenth annual convention of the grower group.

The Convention will be held at the Casablanca Hotel, Miami Beach, September 23, 24 and 25. Pearce said, "The Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association is honored to have as a guest the president of the National Safety Council. Our continuing campaign against farm accidents will be greatly furthered by his contribution to the convention program."

"As president of the National Safety Council, Ned H. Dearborn is the forefront of the war on accidents. He became executive head of the Council in 1942, only a few months after the President of the United States had asked the Council to mobilize the safety forces of the nation in a campaign to reduce accidents and thus conserve manpower needed for war."

"Industrial concerns, public agencies, community safety organizations and other groups rallied to the support of the national wartime safety program, and the organized safety movement was given full credit by both military and civilian leaders for contributing substantially to victory."

"In the transition from war

to peace, the National Safety Council, under Mr. Dearborn's administration, has continued to emphasize the fact that accident prevention is a project for everyone — that every individual and every organization has a part to play in stopping accidents which bring nearly 100,000 deaths and 10,000,000 injuries every year.

This belief is concretely expressed in a recent policy statement of the Council which declares that "The size and complexity of the accident problem require the acceptance of responsibility not alone by individuals but by organizations and agencies, such as are found in agriculture, transportation, business and industry, civic enterprises, health and welfare work, education, government and labor."

"Born on a farm near Conneautville, Pennsylvania, in 1893, Mr. Dearborn's educational training was at a Pennsylvania State Normal School, and at Columbus University, where he received his doctoral degree. Prior to his service with the National Safety Council he was Dean of the Division of General Education at New York University, where he also supervised cause he will do much sightseeing, including a trip to Mexico. The Community received inspiration from the late Ben Davis who lived for a number of years on the Okeechobee Housing Project. He had grown to love the Housing Project and to appreciate the friendly interest the Project staff took in the occupants of the Project. Despite his more than seventy years, he refused to leave the project to return to his old home. He was more interested in the welfare of young boys as was the administration of the camp and at his death he left the Okeechobee Project Staff $50.00 to be used for the benefit of Scouting. As a result of this the Project Authority set up the Ben Davis Scout Fund which has grown to $150.00.

Further inspiration comes from Jack O. Johnson, former member of Belle Glade, who is now with the Navy in Hawaii. He makes an investment in the future of America's youth. He sends annually from
